RUSSIANS SHELL BULGARIAN COAST; BULGARS NEAR NISH

Muscovite Fleet Reported to Have Appeared Off Varna and Inflicted Heavy Damage—Ferdinand's Troops Moving on Servian Capital.

Invaders Capture Several Strong Positions 30 Miles East of Nish and Advance on Wide Front.

Germans Continue to Make Progress in North, Taking 2000 Prisoners, Many Machine Guns.

By Associated Press.
BOMER, Oct. 28.—A Bucharest dispatch to the St. Louis News Agency, filed yesterday, says the Russians have begun an attack on the Black Sea Coast of Bulgaria.

"A Russian fleet arrived at 4 o'clock this morning off the Bulgarian coast," the correspondent wires, "and immediately began a bombardment of Varna. Shelling was continued until 11 o'clock. Considerable damage has been done to the town."

BERLIN, Oct. 28, by wire—To St. Louis. The Austro-German invasion of Servia has been pushed farther to the south. Army headquarters announced today that the further ground had been gained and that the army of Gen. Gallwitz had taken 2000 prisoners since Oct. 25.

The Bulgarians have captured Zaječar and Krijevats, having crossed the Timok over a large front.

Zaječar and Krijevats are on the railroad from Negotin to Nish, against which the Bulgarians are now marching. Krijevats is about thirty miles from Nish.

The height of Krenovaclava, about 15 miles northwest of Piro, (east of Nish), also has been occupied by the Bulgarians, who have captured several guns.

Gen. von Gallwitz's army has taken a number of machine guns of the Servians.

Situation in Southern Servia Seems More Favorable.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Unofficial reports from Greek sources represent the situation in Southern Servia as somewhat more favorable to the entente allies. A dispatch from Athens, which has not been confirmed, states that the Bulgarians have withdrawn from Uskup. Advice from Saloniki tell of a fierce battle along the Velest-Komanovo front with the Bulgarian retreating. Hope is being revived in London that the Servians will be able to reform their lines along the Monastir front.

The German army, which crossed the Danube at Orsova, has joined hands with the Bulgarians, who invaded Servia near Frahovo, and the central Powers now have an open road through North-eastern Servia and Bulgaria to the Aegean Sea and Constantinople. They are thus in a position to send guns and munitions by river and railway to their Bulgarian and Turkish allies, who will be greatly strengthened thereby.

The invasion of the northern portions of Servia by the Austro-Germans continued while Bulgaria is putting forth a strong effort to secure control of additional sections of the Belgrade-Saloniki railway.

So far as the North is concerned, Servia, it is feared by her allies, is doomed, but in the South, reinforced by the British and French, who are now fighting by her side, Servia is using all her strength to throw the Bulgarians back. After the French victory at Krivolak, the Servians, according to the Athens report, were able to recapture Velest, an important railway and road junction, just south of Uskup, where a big battle is still in progress.

It is argued here that if the Bulgarians can be held in the South until Anglo-French reinforcements which are now on the way, arrive, Bulgaria may yet be robbed of Macedonia, on which she has set her heart. But the allies would also have to make an attempt to block the German road to Turkey, and their big attack may be directed elsewhere.

The internal situation of Bulgaria, which is reported serious, may have some effect on the campaign. A military conspiracy against Ferdinand, Athens dispatches say, has been unearthed and the leaders have been shot. Many of the inhabitants of Bulgaria are said to be still loyal to Russia and are showing disinclination to join the colors.

The Hunnians, too, are displaying some uneasiness as to the inactivity of their Government, and an agitation in favor of the allies is being carried on, according to unofficial reports, by influential leaders.

The allies, however, are depending on

ALTON FARMERS THRESHING

Saving Wheat Crop Given Up as Ruined by Rains 2 Months Ago.

Farmers of Bethalto, near East Alton, owning about 2500 acres, are at work today threshing wheat which was given up as ruined two months ago when continuous rains prevented harvesting.

Tobias Oetkin suggested to a number of his neighbors about four weeks ago that the wheat be gathered in stacks. The weather during October has been so sunny that the wheat has dried out so that the farmers are getting about 25 bushels to the acre. The farmers say they have never heard of recovery of wheat after a similar length of time.

Electrolysis Not Responsible for Losses, Telephone Men Say.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—A hard-shelled bug with an appetite for lead-type, is responsible for the perforation of cable covers for which telephone experts have blamed electrolysis, according to Albert Schuler of Santa Barbara, Cal., who exhibited three of the insects to the convention of the Independent Telephone Association of America in session here today.

"There is your electrolysis," said Schuler. "Their scientific name is stenoxyler, and they have cost us between $300 and $500 a month in Santa Barbara for repairs."

POORHOUSE TO RICHES IN DAY

Connecticut Estate Goes to Almost Forgotten Uncle.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 28.—From the poorhouse to riches in a day is the pleasant change in the life of Giles Gregory of this place. Henry Green, an eccentric, died yesterday. It was thought that he had willed his $150,000 to his relatives who had attended him during his illness. No will was found, which means that the entire estate goes to an almost forgotten uncle, Giles Gregory, who has been an occupant of the poorhouse for many years.

CARS FOR "FRESH AIR FIENDS"

Limited Number Will Be Run on Chicago Elevated Train.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Fresh-air cars, windowless and unheated, are to be operated on Chicago's elevated railway system for the benefit of passengers who are out-of-doors "fiends." The cars, it was announced today, probably will be run on half-hour schedules. Only one coach to a train will be unheated. It will be marked "Fresh Air Car."

Health Commissioner Dr. John Dill Robertson suggested the idea.

FRENCH MINISTRY RESIGNS; BRIAND TO BE PREMIER

Gen. Gallieni, Military Governor of Paris, Expected to Become Minister of War.

VIVIANI TO HAVE POST

Jules Cambon, Former Ambassador to Germany, Likely to Direct Foreign Affairs.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Viviani ministry resigned today. Aristide Briand, former Premier and present Minister of Justice, has been asked to form a new Cabinet. The following statement to the press was made by M. Briand before his selection to form a new Cabinet was announced:

"Premier Viviani took steps to enlarge his Cabinet. I am continuing them in my turn, but I have no official mandate, since there is no ministerial crisis. Accordingly, the conversations I have had with various political leaders have been only semi-official, and I ask you to explain that it is in that sense that my activities must be regarded. Perhaps I may be in a position to say more very soon."

Briand Was Premier in 1913.

Information now available indicates that M. Briand will become Foreign Minister as well as Premier with Jules Cambon, who was Ambassador to Germany at the outbreak of the war, was his principal secretary. M. Viviani is expected to be Minister of Justice in the new Cabinet. Other probable designations are:

Minister of War, Gen. J. S. Gallieni, Military Governor of Paris; Minister of Marine, Rear Admiral Lacaze; Minister of Agriculture, Etienne Clementel, former Minister of Agriculture and of Finance; Minister of Commerce, L. L. Klotz, former Minister of the Interior and Finance, or Joseph Thierry, Under Secretary in the Ministry of War; Minister of Instruction, Emile Combes, former Premier.

Gallieni is the present Cabinet, according to their present positions.

The Journal states that there will be six Ministers of State without portfolios, of whom four will be Senators and two Deputies. It is also said that under Secretaryships will not be filled except in the case of the Minister of War in which department Albert Thomas is to be continued in office in charge of the output of munitions.

It is expected that M. Ribot, Minister of Finance and M. Millerand, Minister of War, will be associated with the new Cabinet.

Since the resignation of Theophile Delcasse, as Foreign Minister, on Oct. 13, it has been understood that there would be further changes in the C. A. net, but reports previously have not indicated that such a sweeping reorganization involving the withdrawal of M. Viviani from the premiership was to be made. M. Delcasse's resignation was said to be due to a disagreement regarding the Balkan policy of France, but Premier Viviani said in the Chamber of Deputies at the time that there was no discord in the Cabinet.

The French Cabinet has been previously reorganized since the beginning of the war. The Viviani ministry resigned Aug. 26 of last year, and a coalition Cabinet was formed, with M. Viviani remaining at its head.

M. Briand has held several Cabinet positions and was Premier from Jan. 2 to March 15 of 1913. He is Minister of Justice in the present Cabinet.

FIGHT EXPECTED OVER $2,000,000 GREEN ESTATE

Twin Granddaughters of Manufacturer Said to Contemplate Suit to Break Will.

WERE LEFT $1250 EACH

Bulk of Wealth Was Bequeathed to Three Children by His Second Wife.

A contest between the heirs of the late James Green, by his two marriages, involving the greater part of an estate inventoried at $2,183,818.04, is expected to begin shortly. Green, who was chairman of the board of directors of the Laclede-Christy Clay Products Co., died a year ago, aged 55 years.

Green's daughter by his first marriage, Laura Green, married Capt. William Littlebrant, U. S. Army, who is now stationed at the Presidio, San Francisco. She is dead, and her twin daughters, Laura and Marian Littlebrant, are the prospective principals in a suit to break the Green will. John F. Lee of St. Louis is said to have been engaged to file this suit. He refused to discuss the matter with a reporter.

Wedded Second Wife in 1872.
Green's second wife was Mrs. May Weller (nee Rumsey), and was wealthy. He married her in 1872, and three of their children are now living. They are John Leigh Green of 12 Kingsbury place, president of the Laclede-Christy Co.; Mrs. Walter Duke Thomson and Harold Rumsey Green. The second Mrs. Green died some years before her husband, leaving to him most of her estate.

In his will, Green left bequests to the Littlebrant girls, his granddaughters, of $1250 each, and made bequests to other grandchildren by his first marriage. He then left the bulk of his estate to the three children by his second marriage.

It is expected that the latter heirs, in case any charges of favoritism or undue influence is made, will allege that Green acquired most of his property by inheritance from his second wife, or through the means furnished to him by her, and that her children are therefore justly entitled to more of the estate than the children of the first marriage.

How He Divided Wealth.
In his will Green said that he had previously given each of his children $1250, except that he had given his daughter, Mrs. Littlebrant, only $10,000, and had given nothing to Harold Rumsey Green. He therefore, "desiring to equalize them," gave the Littlebrant girls $1250 each, and the $2500 which their mother had not received, and gave Harold Rumsey Green $12,500. He then proceeded to divide the bulk of the estate into three equal parts, which went to his children by the second marriage.

What Did Kaiser Wilhelm and Gerard Talk About?
Much Speculation in Washington Circles—Lansing Did Not Know Interview Was to Take Place.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Ambassador Gerard's recent conference with Emperor Wilhelm is causing much speculation in official quarters here. Secretary Lansing stated today that the Ambassador had not been directed to visit the Emperor and that no report of the conference had been received. It is generally presumed that on the return of the Emperor to Potsdam the Ambassador made an informal visit to the Emperor.

The possibility that Emperor Wilhelm might have taken advantage of the opportunity to express to Ambassador Gerard Germany's views on peace was generally talked of here today.

CITY OFFICIAL ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING TRAFFIC RULES

Acting Water Commissioner Released After He Promised to Obey Signals in Future.

Francis T. Cuts, acting Water Commissioner, was arrested by a motor cycle policeman in front of the city hall at 3 a. m. today on a charge of violating the traffic regulations.

The policeman said Cuts turned into the semi-circular driveway on Twelfth street without giving a signal that he intended to do so. In the absence of the signal the motor cycle policeman almost collided with Cuts' machine.

Cuts was taken to Central District Station. He was released after promising that in future he would not neglect to give the required signal.

Orphanage Child Taken Into Wealthy East St. Louis Home

MARY LOUISE JOYCE.

YESTERDAY, Mary Louise Watson, 3 years old, was the daughter of a poor Arkansas farmer without prospect of inheritance and so poor, indeed, that her father had been compelled to place her in the Baptist Orphan's Home in East St. Louis because he was not able to provide a home for her. Today, she is an heiress, by adoption, to a considerable fortune, overnight fairly godfather and godmother in her case being Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Joyce of East St. Louis, who have taken her into their home and made, as far as the processes of the law will permit, their very own.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce have no children and Mary Louise will take the place of the little girl they lost nine years ago. Joyce is the leading stockholder in the Illinois State Bank of East St. Louis, of which he is president. His home is one of the handsomest in Southern Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Joyce became interested in Mary Louise on a visit to the orphanage last spring. They went to Belleville with the child's father, John W. Watson, Wednesday afternoon and formally adopted her in the Circuit Court.

County Officers Profit by Fees in 'Speed' Cases
Chinese Wants Divorce from His White Wife

Assistant Prosecutor Says He Believes Arrests Are Not Made in Good Faith.

Fifteen cases against alleged auto speeders who had been apprehended by Deputy Constables Dunn and Hughes as they passed through Bonhomme Township, in St. Louis County, were discussed yesterday by Justice of the Peace Koche at Greve Coeur and J. M. Brown at Ballwin, on the recommendation of Lloyd W. Brooks, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, when the latter said he did not believe any of these arrested persons were guilty of the charges. The cases were dismissed without trial.

In explanation of his action in recommending their dismissal, Brooks said: "I don't believe the arrests were made in good faith. There might be a technical violation of the law in some of these cases, but it does seem unreasonable that people of prominence would drive their cars at dangerous and reckless rates of speed with members of their families in the cars."

Many complaints have been made against the great number of arrests the autoists in Bonhomme, where the Deputy Constables receive no salaries out of the fees received from arrests.

Eleven cases were dismissed by Justice Knoch and four by Justice Brown. Those who had been arrested were Dr. H. M. Post, A. W. Hall, J. F. Schlicht, George E. Parsons, J. A. Warren, L. Gordon, Benjamin Hiller, J. P. Williams, Dr. George Dock, Roy Drew, Daniel Wellhoun, Henry Lockett, J. M. Nichols, Wells Palm and Winkelmeyer. The arrests were made in the last 30 days.

Under the elastic fee system the Deputy making an arrest receives $1 for the arrest and 50 cents for the bond given upon the road. On trial day the Deputy is allowed 5 cents a mile for his trip from the scene of the arrest to the office of the nearest Justice, and 5 cents a mile from his residence to the office of the Justice. In case of a continuance these fees are doubled. The total thus obtained by the Deputy is split with the Constable. The Deputy getting 50 per cent and the Constable 25 per cent. In addition, the Justice receives $2.50 and the Prosecutor $5 for each conviction.

Constable J. H. Buermann of Bonhomme Township today estimated that the Deputy's share of fees runs between $2.50 and $3 for each arrest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The Russian Government signed a contract yesterday with the American Woolen Co. for 5,000,000 yards of heavy woolen cloth, which is designed to supply 1,150,000 overcoats for the Russian soldiers. The total amount of the contract is $7,350,000.

The decree is on the decision of the court last June in the Government's anti-trust suit against the Reading company, Jersey Central and others. The court at that time suggested that the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre company be divorced from the Jersey Central.

16 Nuns Get Out, One After Dropping 25 Children From Window Into Blanket Nets—Only Two of Dead Identified

—Score Injured.

By Associated Press.

Nineteen of the boys and girls, none out of their teens, were chial school lost their lives in a fire which started in the basement a few minutes after the morning session had opened today and swept through the three stories of the brick and wooden school building in less than five minutes.

Nineteen of the boys and girls, none out of their teens, were burned or crushed to death while attempting to escape from the building, which was not equipped with fire escapes. A score of others were injured, some dangerously. Of the latter, Mildred Mead, 16 years old, died after having been removed to a hospital.

The bodies of the dead were found in the crush badly burned but alive and were removed to a hospital. St. John's Parochial School stands on Chesnut street, near St. John's Catholic Church, and the home of the Rev. Nicholas Murphy, the pastor. Opposite is St. John's Convent.

The first alarm brought scores of distracted mothers to the schoolyard. Soon they were joined by other relatives of the pupils, until the buildings was surrounded by a great crowd of men and women, who rushed the police lines in a wild effort to reach their children. The police could not stop the rush. What they failed to do was accomplished presently by the flames, which, shooting from the windows of the building, held back the throng.

Buildings Only Few Years Old.
The school building was erected a few years ago at a cost of about $100,000. Police and firemen bent their energies chiefly to pulling children from doors and windows. The mother superior dropped 25 of her charges from a window on the second floor and they were caught in overcoats and blankets improvised as fire nets.

Maurice Harris, aged 19 years, carried his one-legged chum, Thomas O'Shea, 6 years old, on his back down the smoke-choked stairways to safety.

Michael Dunn, who lives near the school, said he heard a muffled explosion in the school building just before the alarm of fire.

When the ruins had cooled sufficiently to permit it, Building Inspector A. H. McDonald and W. S. Murrell of the State Police made their way for a few feet into the basement, and later reported that the steam boiler which was reported as first to have exploded was intact.

Joseph Donahue, engineer of the building, declared that the blast could not have originated from the boiler. He said that he banked his fire before he left it at 6 o'clock this morning.

City to Have Pictures of All Public School Pupils for Identification.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Photographs of every pupil in the public schools of this city are being made under the direction of the Board of Education, "for identification."

Each boy or girl whose photograph has been made has received a duplicate identification card containing the bearer's photograph and has been instructed to carry it. When the collection is complete it will contain about 700,000 photographs.

Some of the parents are said to have protested against the photographing of their children.

BERESFORD SAYS BRITAIN'S FACING DISASTER IN WAR

Admiral Declares Life and Death Crisis Is at Hand in Which It Is Imperative That Control of Operations Be Taken From Vacillating Politicians.

BLUNDERS CONSTANT SINCE BEFORE WAR

Fatal Policy of "Wait and See" Has Been Followed, He Declares, and Nation Neither Stands by Friends Nor Up to Enemies.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The American prints the following from London under the signature of Lord Charles Beresford, retired Admiral of the British navy, one of the foremost naval authorities in the world and outspoken critic of the Asquith administration:

"We require quick decisions and prompt actions. Both have been singularly wanting since the war commenced. The policy of 'wait and see' is fatal to success in war."

"Owing to the indecision and vacillation of the Government, on every important occasion, action has been too late. Ministers, having no initiative of their own, wait for public opinion to drive them. At the same time the Ministers withhold from the public information without which they cannot form a just opinion."

"We did not stand by our friend Serbia until too late. We neither stand by our friends nor stand up to our enemies. We attempt to bribe Bulgaria by offering her other people's property, thereby causing German methods. We attempt to bribe Greece by offering a portion of our own property. Necessarily we are humiliated when Greece refuses to accept it."

"If we continue our present procedure we shall head straight toward disaster before the latent energy of the nation is awakened."

"Recriminations and deploring the conduct are not of much use at the present moment, except in so far as to prevent a recurrence of gross mismanagement. That mismanagement is partly the result of the amateur strategy and political control of the executive. Thousands of our best men have been lost ashore and afloat, because politicians assume the executive."

"The war up to now has been controlled by politicians, not men who have studied and understood war. The Dardanelles expedition produced the most serious complications in the East and the Balkans, which involve greater danger to ourselves. It opened up the whole Eastern question, when all that was required was concentration in the West."

"If we are to win the war certain matters must be settled at once. It is not a question of days, but of years. We are in a crisis which means life or death to us."

"Why are not drastic measures taken to secure all the Germans in our midst, naturalized or unnaturalized? Why do we not at once commandeer all German land, money, securities, etc., throughout the empire?"

"Why has the defense of London been neglected? It appears to be administered on similar lines to the censorship with divided responsibility, nobody knowing who is really responsible."

"Why has not the Government taken up the question of the rise in prices of food and coal in order to prevent the exorbitant prices charged the poor?"

"Government 'without objectives.' At this moment the Government has no policy, no objective. The late Attorney-General, left the Cabinet because there was no policy, no decision on any point."

"We began the war with two great assets—the fleet and our wealth. The second asset is being squandered by millions, without business supervision or adequate return. We soon shall be bankrupt if this goes on."

"We blundered before the war and have been blundering ever since."

"What else could happen when the war was being managed by politicians, not by men who understand and have studied war? We have a Cabinet of 15 members, only one of whom understands anything about war. We can only beat the Germans by fighting. Talking is useless."

"There ought to be six or seven men who understand war to control the war, nothing else, on the same principle as the German general staff—three men who show they understand the gravity of our position."

"The Minister for War, for munitions and the late Attorney-General should be among the number."

"A frank and careful statement should be made by the Prime Minister, surveying the whole war, letting the people know the truth. Everything the enemy knows should be told to our own people. We cannot go on as we are doing without shaping straight for disaster."

FINANCIAL BACKERS OF LIEUT. FAY IN BOMB PLOT HUNTED

Secret Service Chief Believes He Spent $30,000 on Plan to Disable Munitions Ships.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Efforts of Federal prosecutors and secret service agents here are directed today to an investigation of the financial backing of the conspiracy to blow up munition ships and ships, of which Lieut. Robert Fay of the German army is alleged to be the head.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States Secret Service, was quoted today as saying: "I believe we are going to get the financiers of this plot. Fay says he had and spent only $4000. Paul Siebs says that Fay told him he had $7500 when he started for this country. We believe Fay spent $30,000."

Siebs to Be State Witness. Paul Siebs, today that he was going to appear against the alleged conspirators as a witness for the state, because he had been deceived and led into a trap. Siebs, who declares that he lived in Chicago from 1910 to 1913 as a clerk and traveling auditor, said he came to the United States after visiting Germany last year to buy copper for the use of Germany.

"Our information does not indicate that Fay, who says he was Lieut. in the German army, was acting in a way other than on his own responsibility," said District Attorney Marshall.

Another development was the sending of a telegram to the State Department by Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, denying that Fay had any connection with the German secret service, or the German Government.

Max Breitling, cousin of E. M. Breitling, a mining man and ship owner, was the only one of the five of the alleged conspirators who obtained liberty on bond. He appeared before a United States Commissioner yesterday and furnished $25,000 bond for his hearing on Nov. 4.

New Statement by Fay. That the idea of interfering with munition shipments did not originate with Fay was the purpose of a statement which he made to Federal agents last night. How he received his assignment to come to this country was a strange story, he said, best explained perhaps by the statement that he gathered up "inference" that he should carry out the plot he was engaged upon when arrested.

Fay said that last April he was sent by army officers to Brussels and there met a certain Hansen, a head of the German secret service agents. He was shown a letter, he said, from Dr. Herbert Kienle, one of the other defendants in the case to be tried at the Federal court, telling of the munition plants that are shipping shells to the allies from this country. From the letter Fay says he learned the names of the companies, received $4000 with which to pay his expenses, and then came to this country.

Upon arriving in this country, Fay said, he called on Kienle and made the purpose of his visit known.

Official of Foreign Office, in Berlin, says Fay is Not Known There. BERLIN, via London, Oct. 28.—Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein of the Foreign Office, speaking of the arrest in New Jersey of Robert Fay, said that no such person as Fay was known at the Foreign Office, that the Foreign Office maintained no secret service department and that any bona fide officer in the German army would be known to the German government.

Baron Mumm expressed ignorance concerning the Fay case and discredited the man's claims, but he is investigating the matter.

Why Greece Lets Allies Make Use of Saloniki Her Military Servitude to Serbia

By STERLING E. EDMUNDS, Lecturer on International Law, St. Louis University Law School.

NEW phase in the interesting situation of Greece revealed in a dispatch from Berlin stating that the Greek army is taking measures at Saloniki to limit the passage of troops of the entente Powers landing there, to that land leased by Greece to Serbia in connection with the Balkan railroad as Serbia's port of entry.

This dispatch indicates that Greece does not consider her neutrality compromised nor that the entente Powers have intervened in her affairs, so long as the activity of the entente forces is confined to the leased territory at the port, including their transportation into Serbia. What the terms of the lease are have not been revealed, but they presumably grant to Serbia the right to use the railroad across Grecian territory from her leasehold at Saloniki. Such a situation, in international law, establishes a servitude in favor of Serbia, under the well-recognized principle that a state may grant to another conventional restrictions upon its own territorial supremacy. There are affirmative or active servitudes, giving states the right to perform certain acts within the territory of another, such as to build and operate railways; there are negative servitudes, such, for example, as that a state will refrain from fortifying certain frontier towns; and there are economic and military servitudes. An instance of economic servitude is to be found in a grant of the right of fishery in another's territorial waters, such as the United States has claimed off the Newfoundland coast. As to military servitudes, they may include the right to station troops in or transport them across another's territory.

Both Military and Affirmative. The Serbian servitude in Greece appears to be both an affirmative and a military one. It may have contemplated originally more economic objects, in permitting Serbia access to the sea, but it has taken on a military aspect. With the development of a clearer understanding of the obligations of neutrality, military servitudes have fallen into disfavor, though less so in Europe.

than elsewhere. Still it may be said to be the universal rule that a violation of neutrality is involved when a neutral allows a belligerent the passage of troops or transport of war material over his territory. And it matters not that permission is given both. The passage of troops was considered unobjectionable in the eighteenth century, since it was almost a necessity in the case of the many small states of Central Europe.

In 1793, during the war between France and England, the United States gave French privateers refuge in its ports and met British complaint with the statement that it was a treaty obligation. In 1848, in the war between Germany and Denmark, Great Britain, fulfilling a treaty stipulation toward Denmark, prohibited the exportation of arms to Germany while permitting exportation to Denmark.

Again as late as 1900, during the South African war, Portugal, complying with a treaty obligation toward Great Britain regarding the passage of British troops through Portuguese territory in South Africa, allowed such passage to English forces which had landed at Beira, en route to Rhodesia.

Unneutral and Exceptional. However, such conduct is unneutral and exceptional, the better practice being illustrated as early as 1870 by Belgium in refusing Germany's request to be allowed to transport her wounded through Belgium after the battles of Sedan and Metz. To have granted the request would have relieved German lines of communication as to have rendered military assistance. Otherwise the request might properly have been granted.

In the case of the Serbian leasehold in Greece and the use of the railway across Grecian territory for the landing and transport of allied troops, it is clear that Greece would not only be justified, in spite of any treaty stipulation, so long as she claims to be a neutral.

For it may be affirmed as settled that a military servitude is a legal impossibility today, and that the granting state which considers it binding is not a neutral but an ally.

OWEN, INDICTED, BE A WITNESS AGAINST BURTON

Water Rates Assessor Is Alleged to Have Made Temporary Use of Office Funds.

MADE A LOAN TO OWEN

Deposed Deputy Collector Charged With Embezzlement of $2700—Free on Bond.

John B. Owen, deposed Deputy Collector, in charge of the water rates division, probably will be called before the grand jury as a witness in the inquiry into Claude B. Burton's official acts as Assessor of Water Rates, following Owen's indictment yesterday afternoon on a charge of embezzlement.

When the grand jury had the Owen indictment under consideration, it could not use Owen as a witness. But now that he has been indicted, he properly can be called to testify as to Burton's alleged temporary use of office funds, which has been compared to the use made of such funds by Owen himself.

Owen has stated, in interviews, that Burton charged him interest on a loan which, Owen believes, was made with funds of the Water Rates Office, and former Cashier of the office has testified before the grand jury about this matter.

The indictment against Owen charges him with embezzling approximately $2700. It is charged that Owen took the money, at different times, from the cashier, and gave his check for it, or that he deposited excess payments to his personal account, paying rebates by personal checks. It is not alleged that the city lost anything, as in fact Owen's checks have been taken up by his son, Harvey S. Owen. But court decisions have held that the withdrawal of public funds and the substitution of checks, however constituting embezzlement, is not a crime if the money is repaid.

Owen has been sick at his home, 428 Flora boulevard, for several days, but he left the house before the arrival of a deputy sheriff with a bench warrant, and went to arrange for bond. Chris Schawacker, professional bondsman, gave bond for Owen in the sum of $1500, and the bond was approved by Judge Fisher at the judge's home.

In the Burton inquiry yesterday, the grand jury heard C. W. Allison, city bookkeeper at the Mechanical-American National Bank. He is supposed to have been asked about a deposit of $250, said to have been made by Burton about the same time that his loan to Owen was made.

Religious of the West to Be Recognized, However, at Various Japanese Banquets.

TOKIO, Oct. 28.—Japan will adhere to her original intention not to invite a representative of the Christian religion to the coronation ceremonies of Emperor Yoshihito in Kioto early next month, and only representatives of the Buddhist and Shinto religions will attend.

The coronation, however, will recognize the religious of the West by inviting their representatives to the banquets to be held Nov. 16 in various cities simultaneously with the first great coronation feast proper, to be given at Kioto by the Emperor. More than 100,000 people will be present at these various feasts.

Members of the diplomatic corps will attend two of the principal coronation ceremonies and the three coronation feasts at Kioto, but will not be invited to the grand harvest thanksgiving festival. This is the ceremony at which the Emperor offers the sacred rice to the ancestral gods and himself partakes of the food.

Brayton, "the blind boss of Rhode Island," was employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad to block the passage of bills in the Rhode Island Legislature authorizing the construction of trolley lines which would compete with the New Haven, caused a sensation today at the Federal trial of the 11 former directors of the New Haven. They are charged with conspiracy to monopolize transportation facilities in New England.

It developed that the Government's evidence in regard to Gen. Brayton's activities had been discovered after the trial of the directors, and when the morning session adjourned counsel were in the midst of a heated wrangle over the admission of a letter intended to show how much Brayton was paid for his services as the New Haven's legislative agent. The defense raised the objection that neither the indictments nor the Government's bill of particulars specified the acts which the Government was trying to prove.

New Haven letter to Brayton. With Charles S. Mellen as the identifying witness, the Government put into the record the following letter, dated April 16, 1895, from John M. Hall, vice president of the New Haven, to Gen. Brayton:

"I notice passage of a bill through the Legislature last week chartering an electric railway running between Pawtucket and Attleboro, containing a provision that the company may carry express matter. We should have urged strong objection to this bill if we had had an opportunity.

"Please do not let any more of that kind go through and if possible would like to get that express clause stricken out, either by a general law or some other way, as it seriously interferes with our revenue from the Adams Express Co."

"I notice, also, a bill pending for an electric street railway from East Greenwich through the Pawtucket Valley with power to carry freight, coal, etc., in car load lots. Please nip this project in the bud, if possible, and kill it. Our interests are utterly opposed to granting any electrical railroad company power to parallel our lines, and is especially opposed to granting them the privilege of carrying freight or express matter."

"When the Government came to presenting its letter to show the compensation received by Gen. Brayton, five attorneys for the defense who had been in this matter. Not only was Gen. Brayton paid, but other legislative agents were paid large sums to prevent the proper development of these properties. We have gotten hold of additional facts."

Judge Hunt, at the afternoon session, assumed the objection made by the attorneys for the defense, and the jury was not allowed to hear the remainder of the Government's evidence in this matter.

How the New Haven was troubled by the efforts of M. F. Goldsmith, the man who brought suit against the New York & England Railroad Co. and caused its foreclosure when the New Haven acquired it, was brought out.

C. P. Clark, then president of the New Haven, wrote to William Rockefeller about the trouble the Goldsmiths were making, according to a letter identified by Charles S. Mellen.

The Government alleges that the New Haven finally settled with the Goldsmiths in the suit for damages brought by them against Corbin, the original instigator of the suit against the New England. This the Government expects to show through another witness.

The Government contends that the New Haven fought the construction of a through electric line from New York to Springfield, paralleling the New Haven and introduced a letter from C. P. Clark to H. C. Robinson, a New Haven director, in which he said in reference to the proposition that "it is time on our part to put our feet down and stop it."

WOMAN WHO KILLED HUSBAND FREED ON INSANITY PLEA

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, 33 years old, will be a prisoner for an indefinite period in an insane asylum, following the verdict of a jury in Judge Grimm's court, which acquitted her last night of the murder of her husband, John Smith, 3883 Ohio avenue. The jury added that she was insane at the time she killed Smith, and that she has not recovered.

The jury considered the case for three hours. Smith was killed in his home on the night of July 15, as he slept.

Lucy Smith, 13 years old, testified that her father treated her mother abusively, and there was other testimony of this sort. The woman thought, when she heard the verdict, that she was free and started to walk out.

WANTS PRESIDENT TO ASK CARRANZA TO STOP RAIDERS

Governor of Texas Asks That Influence of Administration Be Used With First Chief.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Many Conventionalists Surrendering and Accepting Amnesty, Dispatches Say.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Gov. Ferguson of Texas telegraphed to President Wilson today urging that he use the influence of the administration with Gen. Carranza to prevent further raids on the Texas border. The President, it was stated, will consult Secretaries Lansing and Garrison before replying.

It has been reported that Gov. Ferguson planned to call upon the President for more Federal troops to be sent to Brownsville, but no such request has been received.

No additional troops will be sent to the Texas border except on recommendation of Major-General Funston, who has been assured repeatedly by Secretary Garrison in the last few months that any additional troops he might need would be sent promptly. This was repeated Tuesday in the Secretary's message to Gen. Funston.

Secretary Garrison takes the position that Gen. Funston is the only Federal official capable of judging the number of troops needed. He has been directed to give every possible aid to the State of Texas in suppressing bandit raids. As yet he has made no request for additional forces.

Gen. Funston transmitted a report today, telling of the situation at Brownsville and at Douglas, Ariz., where a battle between Carranza troops and Villa forces is impending. The message also gave details of the precautions taken by Federal forces to guard trains which will carry Carranza reinforcements from Laredo, Tex., to Douglas.

An indication of general improvement of conditions in Mexico came today in official telegrams telling that train service between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, hitherto interrupted by raiding bands, is now restored. Dispatches to the State Department also say that Carranza newspapers stated that many Conventionalist officers and troops had surrendered to the de facto government and asked amnesty.

Messages to the Mexican embassy here said that many Conventionalist soldiers who have laid down their arms are accepting amnesty and during the last few days nearly 5000 men were sent to Mexico City. Acceptance of amnesty appears to be very general throughout the southern part of the republic.

Gen. Maytorena in Chicago, Says He Will Not Rejoin Villa Army.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Gen. Jose M. Maytorena, late adherent of the Mexican State of Sonora, and chief of the Conventionalist forces along the Arizona border, here today told the press that he would not rejoin the Villa army, which he said was "a band of thieves."

Maytorena, who was accompanied by R. Ramirez, a former political adviser to the Villa party, and stopped here to await the arrival of Gen. Felipe Angeles, who is on the way from Boston.

"I shall not rejoin the Villa army," Gen. Maytorena said. "Carranza has won. We cannot oppose him successfully in the face of a United States army and the forces of Gen. Angeles also expect to retire from active participation in the fighting. So does Gen. Raoul Madero and Gen. Manuel Chao."

Texas Offers $1000 Reward for Bandit Leader, "Dead or Alive."

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 28.—Three important steps in efforts to curb bandit outbreaks in the lower Rio Grande valley were announced by Gov. Ferguson on his return yesterday from San Antonio, where he conferred with Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston concerning the border situation.

First in importance, the Governor announced that he had directed a communication to President Wilson, requesting him to appeal to Gen. Carranza to co-operate with the United States army and Texas authorities in their efforts to suppress disorders on the border.

Stops Backache, Lumbago, Rub It.

Rub away Pain, Soreness, Stiffness, Sciatica, with St. Jacob's Oil.

Back hurt? You can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp twinges and aches? You may be from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, stiffness and aches so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It is never disappointed and has been recommended for 30 years.—ADV.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

A Warning of Acid Indigestion. Prompt Use of Mergal Shows All Sources and Pains.

Sufferers from indigestion or dyspepsia should know that the presence of gas or wind in the stomach invariably indicates that the stomach is troubled by excessive acidity.

This acid causes the food to ferment and the fermenting food in turn gives rise to noxious gases, which distend the stomach, hamper the normal functions of vital internal organs, cause acute headache, interfere with the action of the heart and charge the blood stream with deadly poisons, which in time must ruin the health. Physicians say that to quickly dispel a dangerous accumulation of wind in the stomach and to stop the great fermentation which creates the gas, the acid in the stomach must be neutralized, and that for this purpose there is nothing quite so good as a teaspoonful of pure Mergal dissolved in a little water immediately after meals.

This instant relief of the acid, thus neutralized, and the formation of gas, thus stopped, is the reason why Mergal is so valuable in the treatment of indigestion and gas.

It is important that the Mergal should be distinctly asked for.—ADV.

BODY RESUMES OFFENSE IN THE WEST END FRONT

Sword Cane Commander Leads Attack Before Rumsey on Cafferata's Saloon License.

Two new lines of warfare developed today as a result of the sword cane affair which figured in the breaking up of a recent lobster supper party at Cafferata's Cafe, Delmar boulevard and Hamilton avenue.

John Cafferata and the Park Opera Co. comedians Roger Gray and Dan Marble, were summoned to police headquarters to tell of the circumstances under which Cafferata came into possession of the sword cane belonging to Bernard P. Boggy of 648 Maple avenue, president of the Pageant Theater.

Boggy, on the other hand, announced that he was "going to close up" Cafferata's Cafe, and with this in mind he went with friends to Excise Commissioner Rumsey's home last night and asked to be given a license to practice evidence that liquor had been sold at Cafferata's on Sundays. He said he could summon prominent St. Louisans whom he had seen with liquor at the cafe on the Sabbath.

Rivalry of Theaters.

There is still plenty of talk left in the principals, and it would not be safe to assume how much fight is left in them. From what can be gathered, it appears that the lobster supper row grew out of the rivalry between the Pageant and Park theaters for the patronage of a large portion of the extreme West End.

Both theaters present different amusements, the Park staging musical and dramatic programs and the Pageant motion pictures. The Pageant is the newer, having recently been opened. It is a block west of Cafferata's, while the Park adjoins the cafe on the west.

Cafferata's, situated between the rival amusement enterprises, seemed to have been the meeting place and usual battleground of the belligerents.

Boggy said a Post-Dispatch reporter last night his version of the lobster supper fight. He was seated in Cafferata's Cafe on Monday night, Oct. 4, he said, with Albert E. Morelock of 5835 Von Versen avenue, manager of the Pageant Theater.

CAMPAIGN FOR CONVENTIONS FUND WEEK BEGINNING NOV. 2

Every Trade to Be Organized in Effort to Raise $20,000 to Bring Party Meetings Here—Chance to Get Both.

A whirlwind campaign will be conducted during the week of Nov. 8 to raise a fund of at least $20,000 to procure both the Democratic and Republican national conventions for St. Louis next year. The Campaign Committee of the National Conventions Bureau is arranging to put hundreds of volunteer workers into the field during the week, and is confident that subscriptions sufficient to meet all the financial requirements of both the Republican and Democratic national committees will be obtained.

Every trade will be organized. Committees will be appointed to wait upon these trades and solicit their subscriptions. Every civic, business, improvement and district organization in St. Louis will be enlisted in the work. Each organization will be requested to get a subscription of at least $1 from every member.

The Campaign Committee decided that a fund of $20,000, out of the $100,000 raised, instead of $100,000. There was some feeling that the $100,000 fund would be sufficient, as that sum could be offered to the Republican National Committee when it meets at Washington about Dec. 14 for the Republican convention, and if St. Louis failed to get that convention the fund would then be available for use in getting the Democratic convention when the National Committee meets at Washington in January.

See Chance to Get Both.

But the Campaign Committee, after reviewing the answers sent by many members of the two national committees to an inquiry as to how they stood toward St. Louis, reached the conclusion that it was possible to get both conventions.

The committee has decided to send former Congressman Richard Bartholdt to visit some of the members of the Republican National Committee, with whom he is well acquainted. Some additional Republican leaders suggested by Republican State Chairman Babler probably will be sent to visit committees.

quish the cane, saying it was a concealed weapon. When Boggy fled suit yesterday to replevin it, he found it had passed into possession of Chief of Detectives Allen.

The blade of Boggy's sword cane is 24 inches long. It fits into a wood sheath and has one handle which serves as a cane handle, or as a sword handle. The sword can be unsheathed in a few seconds.

Allen told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Cafferata delivered the sword cane at his office, saying that a man had drawn it on Gray and Marble, and that it had been taken away from him. Allen said he believed Cafferata was a naturalized citizen and had mentioned Boggy's name, but that the matter impressed him as a possible press agent "stunt," and that he withheld account until he had read the account of the matter printed yesterday. Then he sent word to the cafe man and the two comedians to call on him.

Version of a Lafferata.

Cafferata's own version differs in many respects, particularly in that it contains no mention of offering his Park Theater spot for sale, and contends that Boggy carried the sword cane on the night of the lobster supper. Boggy, he said, intruded without invitation upon the supper party and was in ugly mood. Marble, he said, made some remark which Boggy resented. Boggy, he said, got up, stepped over to a corner where he had deposited the cane upon joining the party, and started to unsheathe it. Cafferata said he saw the shining blade coming out and took the cane away from Boggy. At the same time, Cafferata said, Marble kicked Boggy from the rear. The caterer denied having hit Boggy with a beer bottle, or anything else.

NEW TRIAL FOR E. M. DAVIS, CONVICTED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Faulty Instructions in Jerseyville Trial Basis of Action Ordered by Illinois Supreme Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 28.—The Supreme Court has ordered a new trial for Edgar M. Davis, former president of the St. Louis Fire Insurance Co., who was convicted of embezzling funds amounting to about $600,000 belonging to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna B. Cross of Jerseyville. The court bases its action upon faulty instructions and other errors in the trial in the Circuit Court of Jersey County.

Davis had power of attorney from Mrs. Cross. Testimony showed that he had used a considerable amount of the money to reorganize the Alton, Jacksonville & Peoria Railroad in which the husband of Mrs. Cross had been greatly interested up to the time of his death.

Director Talbert's Plan Will Eliminate "Jog" on Washington Avenue at Grand.

Street and Sewer Director Talbert today said that he would recommend a second Locust street cut-off extending from Locust street and Leonard avenue to Washington and Channing avenues. This cut-off would run to the northwest, forming an angle with the new Lindell cut-off which runs to the southwest.

As in the case of the Lindell cut-off it would be necessary to condemn and demolish the buildings on an entire city block. Talbert estimates that the cost would be about $100,000. In his opinion the east-and-west traffic which is fed by Locust street.

If the project is carried out Washington avenue will be widened at Grand avenue so as to do away with the present "jog" which is dangerous to traffic. This widening would involve condemning about 160 feet of the frontage of the old James Campbell home, at Grand and Washington avenues.

The Lindell cut-off has caused a considerable appreciation in the value of surrounding property. He believes there would be a further appreciation if a cut-off to Washington avenue were made. He also suggested that one of the resulting triangles would afford a fine location for the proposed grand opera building or some semi-public building of similar character. He will lay the plan before the Public Utilities Board of which he is a member.

PUBLIC APPROVES
CRITICISED FILMS,
THEATER MEN SAY

Volunteer Censor's Views Run
Counter to People's Taste, Aldermen Are Told.

Views of unofficial film censors in St.
Louis are not in accord with the public's taste, and the photoplays which they condemn are the ones most generously patronized, it was stated by moving picture men at a public hearing on two censorship bills yesterday at the city hall.

William Sievers, manager of a Grand Avenue photoplay house, said this was demonstrated in the picture entitled
"The Isle of Regeneration," which, due to its popularity, was leased for a second week after E. V. F. Schneiderhahn, an attorney, had requested the elimination of scenes showing a girl swimming.
Sievers said the picture was condemned by Schneiderhahn and two police men who were brought by the attorney to view it. The film did not impress Sievers as being immoral, so he called in 50 men of various professions,
among them clergymen, and all said they saw nothing about the film which was objectionable, he told the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Schneiderhahn was chief advocate of the censorship bills at the hearing. He said the moving picture houses displayed immoral pictures frequently, and declared that he recently witnessed an Oriental harem dance in a local film display. Several speakers who followed Schneiderhahn inquired for the address of the house at which the Oriental dance was displayed, but he refused to give it.
The National Board of Censorship is a joke, Schneiderhahn declared, because it is supported by donations from film manufacturing concerns. Orrin G. Cox of New York, a member of the national board, who attended the hearing, admitted that contributions were accepted from film producers as well as from the general public.

Cox opposed the two pending bills on the ground that they were impractical and opposed local censorship generally on the ground that it was more likely than national censorship to produce friction with the public, producers and exhibitors.

Jacob Furth, representing the National Board of Jewish Charities, advocated the passage of one of the bills, introduced by Alderman Barney L. Schwartz.
This bill authorizes the Director of Public Welfare to refuse a license to any film that holds up to ridicule or contempt any race, nationality or religious sect, as well as for immoral or obscene features.

Jesse D. Lynn, representing the Business Men's League, opposed the bills on the ground that the license fee of $1 would interfere with the display of the league's free educational films.

Park Commissioner Cunliff announced that he would offer a third censorship
bill tomorrow, and asked the committee to withhold action until this measure should reach them. Alderman Wyrick, chairman of the committee, said the request would be granted. Arthur J. Fitzsimmons, former Councilman, and proprietor of several movie houses, also asked the committee to consider all three measures at once and end the question finally.

ARTIST WHO PAINTED HADLEY
PORTRAIT GETS $900 AWARD

Jury Finds Against Missourians Who Passed Judgment on Picture and Rejected It.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Nine hundred dollars damage were awarded today to Mrs. Samantha L. Huntley, who painted a portrait of former Gov. Hadley of Missouri, by a jury in the Superior Court, which heard her suit against
Charles A. Houts, former United States
District Attorney in St. Louis; Louis Notte, former Sheriff of St. Louis; and Moses Shoenberg and Frank M. Rumbold. They were members of a committee which passed judgment on the picture. Mrs. Huntley sued for $200.

The portrait was painted in August, 1911. After inspection of the picture at Jefferson City, according to the testimony of Col. Houts, the committee decided that it was unsatisfactory and refused to accept it.

The artist said, in a deposition, that the picture was spoiled by Gov. Hadley's demands that his features be refined, to make him look more like Col. Roosevelt. She also had to ex-temperize a polka dot tie, she said, to suit a Hadleyesque whim.

escaped.

The young woman had attended pray-

she was a frequent visitor. Within 150 feet of the place she was fouled.

polo's magnificent fresco remains intact, and it is considered virtually im-

the masterpiece.

MAN IS SELECTED TO DEFEAT GORDON FOR RENOMINATION

Leaders to Try to Unite All Opposition to Auditor on Will Taylor of Callaway.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
HANNIBAL, Mo., Oct. 28.—With the entry today of Will Taylor, former County Clerk of Callaway County, into the race for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor, there has started a movement among Democratic leaders to combine their strength so as to turn the widespread opposition to Auditor John P. Gordon in favor of Taylor.

The Gordon candidacy has been the stumbling block in all plans of the leaders. The opinion has been expressed frequently that Gordon is responsible for much of the anti-administration feeling and that if he should succeed in getting on the ticket his name there would cost the Democrats thousands of votes. Gordon has been told this, but has shown no disposition to retire from the race. There have been several candidates, including John T. Wayland of Kansas City, Robert E. L. Marrs of Carthage and Secretary Norman of the State Senate. The leaders have not backed any of these in their search for a man to oppose Gordon. Wayland for years has been close to Senator Reed, but there is said to be much opposition to him in Kansas City.

Two Candidates May Retire.
The leaders, who are interested in having Gordon defeated for the nomination, believe that they can induce Marrs and Wayland to retire from the race. It will be explained that if there should be three candidates against Gordon he would be nominated, but that if the race could be narrowed to one man against Gordon, the anti-Gordon sentiment, in the opinion of the Democratic leaders, would make Gordon's defeat certain. There is little probability that Wayland could be induced to retire. He has considerable strength and is an active campaigner.

Gordon has maintained his organization throughout the State and in every section has some of the strong leaders for him. The opposition does not expect to accomplish his defeat with ease. The crowd was slow in gathering here today for the meeting arranged by Senators Stone and Reed as one of the series of anti-Major and pro-Reed meetings being held over the State. Democrats of this, the First Congressional District, said that the anti-administration feeling in the northeastern part of Missouri is strong.

The attitude of the crowd adds strength to the constantly growing feeling that the administration will go to the State Capitol and that the State will go to the State Capitol. The feeling is due more to the weakness of their opponents than to their strength. Democrats find much fault with both of them.

Roch, in addition to having to combat the widespread dissatisfaction with the State administration, will meet opposition because of nepotism in his office. He also will be charged with connection with the diversion of more than $200,000 of the school fund. Gov. Major's explanation in the matter of his speeches has not greatly improved his position. He has much support from country newspapers, to many of which he has allotted publication of constitutional amendments prior to elections, under the law requiring that they be published in one newspaper in each county.

Roch instead of asking for bids and letting this printing to the lowest bidder in each county, has let it to friendly papers at the full legal rate, and where he has been able to do so has permitted several newspapers in one county to print it and has divided the full legal rate among them.

Atkinson Administration Man.
Atkinson has maintained an attitude of aloofness from the administration crowd, but he is generally looked upon as an administration man. He has accepted from Gov. Major one of the best appointments at the Governor's disposal. His action in resigning as Assistant Attorney-General in 1932, a month before his term would have expired, and then accepting employment as special Assistant Attorney-General to handle one case for a fee of $2500, has in the opinion of many placed him in the same category as other officials whose actions have caused the break in the party. Atkinson, however, probably will have the support of the Major or administration contingent, it now being almost certain that Supreme Judge Graves will not be a candidate.

Fred D. Gardner of St. Louis and James A. Houchin of Jefferson City will have a greater strength. It is now apparent, that was indicated a few weeks ago. They will divide much of the farmer vote, but by so doing are expected each to prevent the nomination of the other.

The meeting here today will be addressed by Senator Reed and Stone, Gov. Major and Congressman Lloyd. The speakers have succeeded in keeping all State officers except the Governor off the speakers' program.

STOMACH MISERY QUICKLY VANISHES

Your money back if you want it is the way in which all the leading drug stores are selling Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy.
This is an unusual plan, but Mi-o-na has so much merit and is so almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that the dealers run but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind.
Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-o-na will help you. If it doesn't, tell your druggist that you want your money back, and he will cheerfully refund it.
A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na, and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.
Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful that every bottle sold carries a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made?
You can get Mi-o-na on this money-back guarantee from practically every druggist in this vicinity, including Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., ADV.

here today. Premier Botha is proceeding against Mannik, a nationalist candidate for Parliament, charging that during the recent political campaign Mannik slandered him by asking the Premier what he had done with 134 bars of gold valued at $175,000 left in possession of Botha and two others on the departure of Paul Kruger, late President of the Transvaal and never accounted for.

Botha pointed out that he became Commandant-General in 1900 and had nothing to do with administrative affairs. There were rumors that the gold was hidden in the veldt, but Botha had always stated openly since the gold came into the hands of the republican Government that nothing was missing. Judge F. W. Reitz, who was Secretary of State under the republic, testified that so far as he knew Mannik's statement was untrue.

11 WHISKY - MEN INDICTED

Two New York Concerns Charged With Using Mails to Defraud. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Three officers and eight salesmen of two whisky concerns have been indicted by a Federal grand jury on a charge of using the mails to defraud. About $50,000 is said by the authorities to have been obtained by the defendants since 1907 through the sale of cheap whisky on the representation that it was high grade and by the manipulation of notes given them by the liquor dealers.

All the officers, Adolph, Felix and Leonard Prince, were released on bonds. The eight salesmen have not been apprehended. Busy Bee Candy Bargain Friday. Assorted Chocolates, Pecan Nut Goodies, Honey Coconut Caramels, 15c lb.

MISS BENHAM NEW SOCIAL SECRETARY AT WHITE HOUSE

Daughter of Late Admiral Was Choice of Mrs. Galt, President's Fiancee.

By Leased Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Formal announcement has been made at the White House of the appointment of Miss Edith Wallace Benham, daughter of the late Admiral E. K. Benham, as social secretary. Miss Benham, who was the choice of Mrs. Norman Galt, President Wilson's fiancée, succeeds Miss Isabella Hagner. Miss Hagner had served as social secretary during two administrations and next month will marry Norman James Baiting.

The position is a highly responsible one. For a week or more close friends of Mrs. Galt have been convinced that the choice would fall to Miss Benham, who took over Miss Hagner's duties a fortnight ago when the latter left for a visit to New York. Since that time Miss Benham has been assisting Mrs. Galt with her correspondence and with the many duties which devolved upon her as a prospective First Lady of the Land. Miss Benham has known Mrs. Galt personally for years.

During her father's lifetime Miss Benham traveled extensively. She and her mother have made their home in Washington for many years. Miss Benham has an intimate knowledge of official society. She has piloted many new comers in official life through the shoals of a first season in Washington and has been social secretary for several distinguished diplomats. These include former British Ambassadors and Mrs. Bryce and the former Ambassador from Russia and Baroness Rosen. Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts and her daughters were among Miss Benham's patrons and she was with them when the Duquesne Chalmers courted Miss Theodora Shonts.

The position of social secretary carries a salary of $1800 a year, paid from appropriations by Congress. While it is of only modest rating financially, however, the position offers to the incumbent an opportunity to wield a considerable influence in the social affairs of the national capital. Miss Benham is secretary and one of the charter members of the Society of Sponsors of the United States Navy, and has performed valuable service for this society by original research work which supplied the foundation for the books, "Ships of the United States Navy and Their Sponsors." She has acted as sponsor for two naval vessels.

New York is Miss Benham's native city. She lived there while her father was on shore duty. She resided in Paris for a time and was graduated from one of the French finishing schools for young women. She turned to secretarial work after the death of her father and has confined her activities to the Washington social field. President Wilson and Mrs. Galt are still silent regarding the wedding date and the progress of arrangements for the approaching nuptials. White House attaches insist that the actual date has not been agreed upon. Meanwhile the speculators continue to suggest dates. The latest approximation of the date purports to have come from a person unquestionably in position to know something of the arrangements for the wedding. This suggestion schedules the wedding for some time in the week beginning Nov. 15.

The President and Mrs. Galt attended a performance "Around the Map" at the National Theater, accompanied by Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, cousin of the President, last night. President Wilson and Mrs. Galt appeared to enjoy the musical numbers, which included "When the Right Girl Comes Along," "Some Girl Has Got to Darn His Socks," "Here Comes Tootsie," "Lucy Lulu," and "Dolly, Dear." There has been a steady stream of wedding presents flowing into the Galt home on Twentieth street for weeks. Many of these are anonymous, while others are accompanied by cards. The presents are coming from all sections of the country. Mrs. Galt has made no public announcement of the receipt of these gifts. The disposition of both the President and his fiancée is to discourage the giving of presents. Trouseau Not Completed. The wedding arrangements have proceeded to the point where Mrs. Galt is considering the style of the engraved invitations which will be sent out. Mrs. Galt has not completed her trousseau, but has let it be known definitely that she will do her own shopping. Mrs. Galt was fitted for several gowns at the establishment of a Connecticut avenue modiste. Among them it is understood is a jetted black evening gown and another frock for evening wear of midnight blue and yellow. Several costumes ordered by Mrs. Galt from the same importer reached town yesterday and Mrs. Galt viewed them for the first time. All of her gowns are made on long simple lines and she does not affect the bouffant draperies that are so popular at the moment. Mrs. Galt spends many of her mornings in a little room at the rear of the Galt family avenue, where with the assistance of Miss Benham or a friend she wrestles with the letters that have been pouring in at the rate of 200 or more a day.

DRIVER GETS A MILK BATH

Branch of Tree Tills Wagon, Spilling Inch of Cream of Casserole. Henry Knobbs of Casserole avenue, driver for the Jersey Farm Dairy Co., got a milk bath at 3 o'clock this morning when an overhanging branch of a tree in front of 3543 Louisiana avenue, caught the top of the wagon and raised it from its front wheels. Knobbs was thrown into the bed, where milk from tilted cans flowed over him. His horse was doing an aerial balancing feat, the tree having lifted the animal from its feet, when policeman arrived.

NISH WAS ONCE STRONGHOLD OF ROMAN EMPIRE

Abandoned Capital of Serbia Is Second City of Nation, Surpassed Only by Belgrade.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—"Nish, the third national capital to be abandoned before war invaders, is one of the ancient nuclei of the Serbian nation," says a primer on war geography just given out by the National Geographic Society.
"It has been the heart of things Serbian in the Balkan peninsula, since the days when this Slav people became the neighbors of Imperial Byzantium. The other capitals which have been abandoned in the course of the war are those of Brussels, in Belgium, and Belgrade,
the peace-time government center of Serbia. One other capital has been nearly abandoned, Paris, which was temporarily abandoned by the French Government, but successfully defended against all its enemy's assaults. Nish has been used as the Serbian capital, practically, since the outbreak of the war.

Serbia's Second City.
"This ancient city, once a prominent Roman stronghold, lies about 12 miles southeast of Belgrade, in the Morava Valley, through which the chief European way to Constantinople runs. It is but about 40 miles west of the Bulgarian frontier, and is defended on every hand
by a complex of rugged, lesser mountains. It is Serbia's second city, only surpassed in strategic and commercial importance by Belgrade, upon the Danube.

"Owing to its position, it dominates
the way from Europe to the Orient, in war time as a fortress, in peace time as a merchant city able to exact a toll upon strong currents of passing trade.
Of its importance to the Serbians, it might almost be said that Nish and Belgrade complete town life in this kingdom, and that all the rest is rural.
"Many of the principal roads of the Balkans converge here, while the path of the Oriental Express, the express through from Paris, Munich and Vienna to Constantinople, passes through its heart. Also a branch railway goes from here to the thriving seaport of Saloniki, and thence to Athens. Thus the little place has not been so far out of the world as its centuries of obscurity might lead one to suppose.

"The hills around the city have been strongly fortified with modern earthworks. The frontier toward Bulgaria is one difficult to invasion, and the defensive works of the city command the valley approaches from the north and south.
"The Serbian railways are administered from Nish, and here the railway has its shops for the repair of rolling stock, its stores of supplies and central offices for operation. The city has an iron works of some importance.

NO EXCUSE FOR UNLIGHTED AUTOS, SAYS POLICE CHIEF

Plea That Lamps Have Not Been Adjusted According to New Rules

Police Chief Young today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he would instruct his men to increase their vigilance in arresting automobilists who operate their machines at night without headlights.

Since the police, eight days ago, began active enforcement of the law against carrying glaring and blinding lamps, a number of automobilists have been driving about the streets of St. Louis with their lamps unlighted.

Thirty arrests for this cause have been made in the last week. In nearly every case the owner or driver explained that he had not had his lamps adjusted so as to comply with the regulation against glaring lights and was afraid he would be arrested if he lit them.

Chief Young today said this could not be accepted as a valid excuse and that running without lights would not be permitted by the police, as ample time had been given for all automobilists to have their lamps readjusted.

GIANT HIGH-SPEED BIPLANE TO BE BUILT FOR U. S. NAVY

Craft Designed to Fly 50 to 60 Miles an Hour for Seven Hours Without a Stop.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Secretary
Daniels has signed an order for construction at the navy yard here of a giant biplane for the navy. Plans were prepared by navy engineers, under direction of Naval Constructor H. C.
Richardson, a qualified air pilot.

The craft, driven by 150-horsepower motors, will have a carrying capacity of 2200 pounds and make from 50 to 80 miles an hour for seven hours without stop. The machine will almost equal in size French battle airplanes recently constructed. It is understood the Navy Ordnance Bureau is working on the design of a 3-inch gun with which it can be equipped if desired.

Secretary Daniels said the machine
could be used for transporting fuel, weapons or high explosives, and that it would be of great value on long-range outing.

It has been suggested that an aero-plane of this character might carry a torpedo for attack on a fleet sheltering in a land-locked harbor.

HAS A HARD TIME GETTING FAMILY OUT OF RUSSIA

Philadelphia Men Sent Them on Vacation Before War and They Were Held.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—War has worked havoc in the home of Louis Zeben of Fifth and Bainbridge streets, whose wife and two children have returned to this city after spending 18 months as virtual prisoners in a little town on the edge of the trouble zone in Russia. Not only is Mrs. Zeben on the verge of prostration and under a physician's care as the result of her experiences, but the two children, native Americans, have returned to their father unable to speak anything but Russian, a tongue he has long since forgotten.

Went on Vacation.
Several months before the war Zeben sent his wife and children back to the old country for a vacation to his parents in the Moravia. Mrs. Zeben accompanied as child's nurse. With the outbreak of hostilities Zeben lost track of them and many months passed without tidings
as to their fate.

At that time Zeben was not a naturalized citizen and his out-repeated pleas to the State Department were in vain.
Finally he received word that the Russian Government was holding his family at Vintia for fear that if they were allowed to return home they might give information injurious to the Russian army. With this news the whole Jewish colony in Philadelphia became interested in the welfare of the disrupted family.

State Department Helps.
Zeben in the meantime had received his naturalization papers. He again appealed to the State Department. First, Secretary Bryan demanded the release of Mrs. Zeben and the children. Then Secretary Lansing, the matter up to the Russian Government at last consented to let the mother and her children return home. Mrs. Zeben, it was insisted, was still a subject of the Czar and must remain in Russia
until the end of the war.

Word was received here recently that the Zebens were on the way home.
Zeben, who had spent almost all his money in the struggle to recover his family, went to New York to meet them.

The climax of Zeben's woes was reached when he tried to converse with Zelig, a 2-year-old boy. Although born his children, Sadie, aged 5 years, and in Philadelphia, neither could understand a word of English because the Russian authorities at Vintia had for-bidden the use of any but the Russian language.

ICE BLOCKS BERING STRAIT

Navigation in Western Arctic Closed

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 28.—A dispatch from Nome reports that navigation in the Arctic Ocean has closed for the season.

which left Nome for Kotzebue Sound

had planned to pass the winter in Seattle, was unable to get through Bering Strait because of the heavy ice and returned to Nome.

New Yorker to Open W. U. Lectures.

GIVE CROSS, SICK CHILDREN A DOSE OF "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its stomach, liver and bowels are clogged.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, its stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the waste, the bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child.

Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy
after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Syrup Company." Hand back to any other fig syrup.

CHICAGO SUNDAY LID STOPS WORKERS' MONDAY 'HANGOVER'

Employers Tell Mayor Better Work
Is Done; Savings Bank Deposits Increase

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Closing saloons on Sunday in Chicago has resulted in an increase in savings bank deposits, heavier early week shopping and an increase in Monday efficiency of workers, Mayor William Hale Thompson said today.

Scores of employers had written him,
the Mayor said, of the "remarkable change" in the Monday work of thousands of employees in their charge. One concern employing 10,000 men wrote that the first Monday after the closing order became effective was the first in years that an accident had not occurred at the plant.

"The absence of the usual Monday morning 'hangover,'" the Mayor said,
"is the result of this change—at least,
that's what the big employers of labor
tell me."

Government. The material is being manufactured at the corporation's

For a Bad Cough

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that has been used for many years with great success: Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parment (Double Strength) and add to it 4 oz. of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.
No more racking your whole body
with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prevent, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold or catarrh in any form,
should give this prescription a trial.

ADOPTED DAUGHTER WINS SUIT FOR HALF OF ROBERTS' ESTATE

Natural Child of Former Wellston Mayor Entitled to $40,000 by Supreme Court Decision.

Attorneys for Miss Myra Jane Roberts of New Orleans have been notified that the Supreme Court of the United States has denied a writ of certiorari to the suit of Miss Roberts against Mrs. Ida Roberts of St. Louis to recover one-half of the estate of Charles J. Roberts, former Mayor of Wellston, which was decided in her favor by the United States Court of Appeals last May. By the decision of the Supreme Court Miss Roberts will now come into possession of $40,000 as soon as the property of the Roberts estate can be sold, in compliance with the order of the Court.

Miss Roberts, now 4 years old, was a clerk in a New Orleans store at $6 a week when she learned that she was the adopted daughter of the former Mayor of Wellston, and entitled to inherit one-half of his estate. She employed attorneys William B. and Ford Thompson to file suit against the widow.

There were many interesting legal propositions in the case. There was no deed of adoption, and this is said to be the first case decided in which a parole adoption was upheld by the courts. United States District Judge Dyer, in deciding in favor of Miss Roberts in the original case, held that she was the natural daughter of Roberts and a Chicago seamstress, who died many years ago.

GERMANS SAID TO HAVE SHOT THREE BELGIANS AT LIEGE

Two More Reported Sentenced to Death—Fate of Condemned Women Unknown.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—The Telegram bears from Liege, Belgium, that two more persons have been sentenced to death there by court-martial. Their names are Frans Laquay and Andreas Garot. Three others, Oriel Simon, Amadeus Hesse and Constant Herck, already have been shot at Liege.

Nothing is known concerning the fate of Anna Benast of Verviers, Belgium, who was sentenced to death by a German court-martial on Monday.

German Statement Says Cavell Case Was Misleadingly Reported.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—A semi-official statement has been issued here relative to the case of Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed by the German authorities.

After referring to the letters between the American Legation and the German authorities at Brussels about the Cavell case, which were given to the British Government by Ambassador Page in London, for publication, the statement says:

"In these documents most of the important events are inaccurately reproduced. Particularly is the impression explained by the fact that the Belgians with empty promises put off the American Minister (Brand Whitlock) in order to conceal from him pronouncement of the death sentence and deprive him, by speedily carrying out the sentence, of the possibility of intervention of Miss Cavell's behalf.

"In a statement, which is also published, Sir Edward Grey declared that the worst feature of the action of the German authorities was that a promise made to the American Minister continually to inform him of the course of the proceedings was not kept. Such a promise was never given by the German authorities and could not, therefore, have been broken. This was admitted by the American Minister in Brussels when the matter was discussed with the German authorities.

"That the American Ambassador in London was wrongly informed can be explained by the fact that the Belgian advocates who, as attorney for the American Legation, played an important part in this incident, caused a misleading construction to be placed on his report.

"In any case the American Minister at Brussels was painfully affected by the report as made public. He intends to inform his London colleague and his Government at once of the difference between the written report of the Belgian attorney for the legation and the facts.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—It is officially stated here that the papers relating to the case of Miss Cavell were published exactly as they were received from the American embassy, and, of course, after the consent of the American embassy had been obtained.

TWO YOUNG MEN CONFESS ROBBERY WEST END HOMES

Two Others Arrested When Police Try to Find Stolen Property—Both

Dear Buying Jewelry.

William Murphy, 19 years old, of 622 Maple avenue, and John J. Regan, 24, of 624 Clemens avenue, last night confessed to the police that they had robbed the home of William A. Brady, 5740 De Giverville avenue; Lawrence Ewal, 608 Cabanne place, and H. W. Becker, 612 Washington boulevard, stealing jewelry valued at more than $500.

Charles F. Unger, 42 years old, of 621 Bartmer avenue, is under bond to appear in Judge Miller's division of the Court of Criminal Correction tomorrow.

He and John J. Cronin, an insurance agent, living at 1111 Elm terrace, were arrested yesterday while the police were trying to find property stolen by Murphy and Regan. Unger denied that he had purchased eight silk shirts, a kodak, bracelet and watch from Thomas Mullen, 23 years old, of 602 Spencer place, who had been named by Murphy and Regan in their confessions.

Cronin denied being involved with either Murphy or Regan.

FOREIGN TRADE COMPETITION AFTER WAR BEING CONSIDERED

Redfield and Davies Center With President Over Legislation to Protect U. S. Merchants.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Legislation to aid American merchants in their efforts to take advantage of trade opportunities growing out of the European war and to protect home industry against ruinous foreign competition upon the restoration of peace was considered yesterday by President Wilson in conference with Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce and Chairman Davis of the Federal Trade Commission.

As a result of the conference the Secretary of Commerce will recommend to Congress the enactment of a law making selling by foreign firms at less than the cost of production here "unfair competition," punishable under the anti-trust laws.

The Federal Trade Commission is expected to propose an amendment to the Clayton anti-trust law to legalize combination for co-operative selling agencies abroad.

GOVERNOR SPENDS
$10 AT BAZAR;
HAS GOOD TIME

Samples Von Hindenburg Punch at Coliseum and Also Drinks a Stein of Beer.

Gov. Major, accompanied by Excise Commissioner and Mrs. Rumsey, visited the War Relief Bazar for the benefit of the German and Austrian Red Cross Societies at the Coliseum last night. He visited the various booths, sampled the Von Hindenburg punch and obliged a pretty Austrian maid in a garden in the basement by drinking a stein of foaming beer.

The Governor was besieged by women desiring to sell him various souvenirs and within three minutes had disposed of $10, according to one of the party who acted as his escort. When he approached the Von Hindenburg punch booth he asked the maid serving it if it had a "sticker" in it, meaning intoxicating liquors.

He was told it contained "just a little Rhine wine." The Governor drank it with evident relish. A little later he reached the Austrian garden, where he partook of the beer.

The Governor was surrounded by a crowd in the Coliseum and shook hands with scores in the short period that he was there.

Officials of the bazar said that it was the biggest night thus far and that fully 20,000 persons paid admission. The total receipts so far, including gifts, amount to more than $60,000.

The demand for honey from Grant's farm was so great that the supply of bottles and cartons ran out early in the night, and August Busch telephoned for a larger supply for today.

The women's class of the St. Louis Turnverein gave an expert exhibition of club swinging, followed by a ladder drill by the men of the Southwest Turnverein. Several singing societies enlivened the evening with their selections.

The German Theater Stock Company, under the direction of Hans Loebel, gave two performances during the evening in the miniature Schiller Theater. Roger Gray and Dan Marble of the Park Opera Company, and a number of cabaret artists gave performances at midnight in the Austrian Garden.

FIFTEENTH CENTURY TAPESTRY
FOR E. A. FAUST'S GALLERY

Place Once in Madrid Royal Palace
Now on Exhibit at Pennsylvania Museum.

Edward A. Faust, of Portland, Me., who arrived in St. Louis from New York last night, said that Flemish tapestry, which he had purchased in New York, would soon be placed in the art gallery which is being built as an addition to his home. He said the tapestry was a superb piece of fifteenth century work, but did not cost $100,000, which press dispatches has credited him with having paid. He did not care to state the amount.

He loaned it for exhibition to the Pennsylvania Museum, where it is being shown.

Faust, who is president of the St. Louis Art League, said he would lend it to the St. Louis Art Museum, whenever a tapestry exhibition is given.

This tapestry, which was once in the royal palace at Madrid, and later in the chateau of Verville, Calvados, is the subject of "The Frothing of the Sea." It is one of a set depicting the life of David, and includes almost 40 figures, those in the foreground being life size. It is 21 feet 3 inches long by 13 feet.

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN FAVORS
NATIONAL DEFENSE PROGRAM

Tells President He Thinks Military Committee Will Be in Harmony with Administration Plan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Chairman Chamberlain of the Senate Military Committee told President Wilson today that he approved the national defense program along the general lines proposed, and that he thought the Military Committee of the Senate would be in harmony with it. Senator Chamberlain said he thought his committee could complete deliberations on the army bill when it reaches the Senate within a month and he expects that the bill will be introduced soon after Congress convenes.

The Senator at the last session introduced a bill covering part of the army increases included in the administration scheme. He believes the standing army should consist of about 150,000 men and he will advocate training of young men in schools and colleges for military service. In this connection he intends to introduce as a separate bill a plan of co-operation between the Federal Government and the states, whereby military instruction in the public schools would be established.

"Old Home Week" Organizer Dies.
BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Frank W. Rollins, former Governor of New Hampshire, generally regarded as originator of the "old home week" idea, died at a hotel here last night. Rollins, whose home was at Concord, N. H., had been ill for three months with a heart affection. Rollins was head of E. H. Rollins & Sons, bankers and brokers of this city, New York, Chicago and San Francisco. He was a son of the late United States Senator Edward H. Rollins.

Rich Man, Poor Man

By MAXIMILIAN FOSTER

Author of "The Whistling Man"

IMAGINE a pretty, vivacious girl of unknown parentage, brought up on charity in a cheap boarding-house, instructed only by little Mr. Mappy, a broken-down book-keeper, turning out to be the Granddaughter of Old Beeston, the richest man in New York!

That was what happened to Bab Wynne. Imagine the extraordinary situation further complicated by her falling heels over head in love with the star boarder, young Varick, whose father had been ruined in Wall Street by Beeston. And then imagine young Varick's emotions when he found himself in love with Bab, one of this family on whom he had vowed eternal vengeance.

This is just the beginning of a swiftly-moving story, full of quick turns, jolting surprises and happy outcomes.

DRAMATIC STORY PIECED OUT OF F-4'S HULK TELLS HOW CREW WAS TRAPPED

Board of Inquiry's Report Clears Men of All
Blame—Disaster Due to Leak and Poor
Diving Qualities of Vessel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A graphic story of the battle for life waged in vain 300 feet beneath the surface of the sea by the 21 men who perished in the navy's submarine F-4 last March at Honolulu, is told in the final report on the loss of the vessel submitted by a board of inquiry headed by Rear Admiral Busch and made public today.

Examination of the wrecked hull after it had been brought to the surface and placed in dry dock convinced the board that the disaster was caused by a leak resulting from a corroded battery lining, and the failure of the boat through poor diving qualities, to respond promptly to the rudder change which should have returned her to the surface.

Discarding the theory once advanced that chlorine gas brought quick relief in death to the crew, the board, from signs within the rusted and battered hull pieces out in its report a dramatic account of how the doomed men strove desperately to save themselves as their vessel sank to the bottom. Fifteen met death in the engine room where they sought refuge at the last; six died at their posts in the flooded forward compartment.

Ship's Company Blameless.
All members of the ship's company are absolved from blame in this tribute.

"From the facts established, we find that the accident resulting in disaster to the United States submarine F-4, on March 25, 1915, was not due to carelessness, negligence or inefficiency on the part of the officers or men of the vessel; and that, furthermore, the personnel remained at their respective stations until all effective means employed to avert the disaster impending had failed and thereafter sought refuge."

After a review of all the facts established in the investigation the board states that its conception of the disaster is as follows:

"The primary cause of the disaster was the corroded condition of the lead lining of the battery tank and, in consequence, of certain rivets in the port wall of the forward battery steel tank."

"The secondary causes were: (a) The poor diving qualities of the vessel; and (b) the consequent failure of the vessel promptly to respond to measures taken to bring her to the surface."

"Unknown to the commanding officer, the vessel acquired some negative buoyancy forward of the center of gravity, through the leaky rivet in the port wall of the forward battery steel tank."

"Water accumulated in the forward battery lead lined tank and through corroded slop tanks, overflowed into the battery cells—in contact with sulphuric acid in the cells generating chloride gas. The vessel developed a strong tendency to dive."

What Followed Signs of Danger.
"Upon these intimations of danger, there followed:

"Up-rudder, but, due to the poor diving qualities of the vessel, aggravated by the additional quantity of water taken in through the port wall of the forward battery tank, the vessel did not respond, but, in fact, continued to descend, and downward momentum was gained before propellers were stopped."

"Automatic blow was tripped and the blow valve on its auxiliary tank opened. In the endeavor to check the downward momentum maneuvering with the propellers probably took place."

"The appreciable length of time requisite for air to build up in the ballast tanks for the expulsion of sufficient quantities of water resulted in the vessel reaching crushing depths."

"Seams of the vessel began to open and—probably through open torpedo tubes and seams—water entered the vessel. A condition of positive buoyancy was never attained. There followed actual disaster."

"The vessel began filling with water. The personnel abandoned stations and many sought refuge in the engine room, closing the door."

"Under great pressure the engine room bulkhead failed suddenly, leaving the vessel on the bottom, completely flooded."

From its examination of the valves of the automatic device which was set to expel water from the vessel's ballast tanks at a depth of 100 feet as required by departmental regulations, the board found that the accident which started the F-4 on her downward plunge had occurred before the 100-foot mark was reached. The most effective procedure for sending the boat to the surface was promptly carried out, diving rudders were set to send her upward, valves opened to empty the forward ballast tanks, and the electric motors started to drive her upward, all without avail. It was then some members of the crew rushed into the engine room compartment and the door of the bulkhead was closed.

Fifteen bodies were found there and from this fact and the position of valves and rudders the board concluded that: "Some member or members of the personnel were alive and capable of action for at least a short time after the occurrence which led to the disaster."

Corrosion Before Date of Disaster.
The board located the primary cause of the tragedy forward of the engine room bulkhead. In this connection it says: "Slop tanks and lead lining of battery steel tanks found corroded and therefore this corrosion resulted from the chemical action of sulphuric acid upon impurities in the lead."

"Battery steel tanks in general found in excellent condition and therefore, the corrosion of certain rivets and areas occurred prior to March 25, 1915, the date of the disaster."

"Valves and rudders found operated; switches found thrown; engine room door intentionally closed; and, therefore, the personnel were not asphyxiated before the vessel, under normal conditions, could have been brought to the surface."

Leak Due to Corroded Rivet.
"Corroded rivet in port wall of forward battery steel tank, in wake of frame No. 51, found to leak slightly under even a small head of water—not more than one foot—to which this portion of tank could be subjected in dock and, therefore, "On the dive of March 25, 1915, this corroded rivet leaked considerably, due to inevitable short-circuit or heavy ground caused by flooding of cells through slop tanks, in the presence of chlorine and free hydrogen, or in the presence of free hydrogen alone, if in sufficient quantity, electric arc struck, and, therefore, an explosion occurred."

"A battery fire of limited extent occurred in the forward battery positive cell; but, nevertheless, this battery fire was not the primary cause of the disaster."

"Leak found in port wall of forward battery steel tank; probable leaks around certain other corroded rivets in both battery tanks; probable leak through open torpedo tubes; otherwise, no positive evidence was as to where leakage occurred; and, therefore, "The vessel began to leak through open seams when, or before, the depth of 300 feet was reached, and at such a rate that the weight of water coming in was greater than the weight of water being expelled from the ballast tanks; and, furthermore, "Slop tanks found corroded; suction-pipe leading to bottom of forward battery lead-lined tank found plugged with marine gunk, and, therefore, these conditions were contributory to the disaster."

Propellers a Secondary Cause.
The report continues: "No evidence found that the F-4 had poor diving qualities prior to her docking in February, 1915, when experimental propellers were fitted—the only known alteration made; and, therefore, "The experimental propellers so substituted probably so affected the influence of the after-diving rudders as to make it difficult for the diving rudder man to control the vessel; and, furthermore, "The poor diving qualities consequent upon this change of propellers were the secondary cause of the disaster."

"Air valves found open on forward main, middle main, auxiliary and after main ballast tanks, and, therefore, "In the endeavor to check the vessel's downward momentum, the interval of time requisite for the expulsion of sufficient quantity of water permitted the vessel to reach crushing depths."

BELGIANS IN SCOTLAND SEND PRAISE TO KING AND QUEEN

Belgians in Scotland send praise to King and Queen.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 28.—In a letter published in the Independence Belge, the Belgian workers at Dalmuir express their thanks to M. Vandervelde, leader of the Belgian Socialists, now one of the Belgian Ministers, for addressing them, and adds:

"The next time that you see our King, will you please inform him that the workers at Dalmuir desire to express their deep respect for him and their admiration of his courageous and noble conduct. Say to the King that although they are not able at present to go to the front, they are not losing their time in inaction, but are working night and day on the manufacture of the material and the munitions required by the allied armies. Likewise, say to the King that our Queen our deep respect for the work of charity and devotion that she is carrying out at the side of her august husband? Tell our brave soldiers in the trenches that their brothers Belgians admire and envy them, that they are forging, without relaxation, the weapons of war which will win for them the victory and restore to them their beloved fatherland and their independence."

VIRGINIA TO GET LARGE BACK TAXES FROM RYAN ESTATE

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28.—Virginia is after delinquent taxpayers, and has unearthed a claim against Thomas F. Ryan, multimillionaire of this State and New York, for $100,000, which the legal representative of Ryan has expressed willingness to pay without contest. Attorney-General Pollard is not disposed to accept the report of the Examiners of Records, upon which the claim rests, without further inquiry, he seemingly being of opinion that there are intangible properties and income of Ryan upon which additional taxes are delinquent.

Nelson County has a claim against Ryan on the same score for $20,000, which is included in the multimillionaire's acceptance, through his representative. The period of delinquency extends back to 1904.

FEARS LOSS OF OCEAN TRADE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Fear that shipments of general cargo by sea from San Francisco to Atlantic ports may be entirely suspended was expressed today by shipping men who based their opinion on the fact that the demand for nitrate by Eastern powder mills, combined with the closing of the Panama Canal, offered inducements in South American traffic that ship owners could not afford to overlook.

Suspension of water transportation, it was pointed out, would throw a heavy burden on already overtaxed railroad lines.

TURKS' END IN FOG FORECAST BY SEER 365 YEARS AGO

Ancient Prophet Wrote Verse
Then That England Would Capture Constantinople
in Sea Mist.

By FREDERICK THURSTON, M. A. G.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Oct. 23.—Not many persons today are aware that some 365 years ago a great and renowned prophet published the prediction that "one day the British fleet will sail up to Constantinople in a foggy mist and win laurels in a great world-wide war" and that "the French republic will, with the assistance of the Italians, oust the Turks from Europe and occupy their domain and try, with ill success, to rule it with a double regime of Frank and Moslem war."

The prophet was Nostradamus. His thousand questions, published in the reign of King Edward VI., have been to the destinies of British and French nationalities what the Sibylline Books were to ancient Rome.

Was Learned Doctor.
He was a learned doctor who practiced medicine in the Provence, of Jewish descent, and who Daniel and others declared that he had been visited by an angel who told him the destinies of Europe up to the millennium and instructed him to publish them to the world in the mysterious garb of 1000 unorthodox verses, half sense, half jargon, the names of the actors of the future hidden in anagrams or sonnets, and all the verses jumbled like a shuffled pack of cards.

Among his contemporaries he gained such renown as a prognosticator that the Kings of Burgundy and France consulted his mysterious powers. The British know little about this prophet of old days, but in France he is generally well known still. Princes like the Stuart Pretenders, and Generals and politicians of the grand monarch and the republic have deeply studied these quatrains.

Told England's Future.
Nostradamus has prophesied for the British events like the rule of the Stuarts in England, the execution of a King by the Senate, interregnum of hymn-singing Puritans, the Battle of Dunbar, the rule of Cromwell, the fire and plague of London.

Surely, in a large national crisis like the present, involving the future of both British and French, some quatrains will be found to give us encouragement and faith in our great destiny. Let us consult him.

In Quatrain V, 35, we are told that one day "by the free city of the great Sea of Setim, which still in its belly carries the stone, there will come an English fleet, under the cover of a sea-mist to pluck a laurel branch in the great open war."

The "stone" is probably that sunk by the Phoenicians when they emigrated to Marseilles; therefore, the Upper Oranien or Sea of Marmora are signified, and we have only to look forward to some dazzling, foggy autumn day to see the prophecy verified three centuries and a half after publication.

"Branches" is a curious epithet, hardly applying to Constantinople in its present state, unless it implies that the deed will make it a "free city" at the final settlement; or, possibly, the right translation of the word is the Frank City.

To Oust the Turks.
Although the city itself may be cosmopolitanized, like the Suez Canal, the predictions of Nostradamus point to the future of Roumelia as coming under the protectorate of the French Republic. For in the following quatrain VI, 43, we are informed that "Oglova, the sobriquet under which the French republic appears in Nostradamus, with the aid of the Italians, are destined to oust the Turks and destroy the Moslem power."

A L'Oglova sera l'empire de la France. Le grand Setim qui ne plus sera de nuit. Par les flots errants nos cheneux. Quel sera son premier conseil?

Again, in Quatrain V, 35, we have a prediction that one day the French republic would approach great Byzantium with an army and the League of Bachelors would be chased away, but an attempt to rule the district of a double code of laws would embroil Moslem and Frank in perpetual bickering.

L'Oglova grande Blanche approchera: Cheneux sera la barbarie des Grecs. De tout cela l'empire de la France. Barbara et trahison de perpetuelle haine.

The starting of the present great European war is surely indicated in the Quatrain IX, 59, where the seer warns us that one day a "Captain of great (united) Germany, pretending to come to the succor of the King of Kings, will come to render assistance to Austria and will be the shedding of blood which will eventuate from that outbreak of hostilities."

Un capitaine de la Grande Germanie se rendra centre, par simple honneur. Au Roy des Roys, aide de France: Quel sera son conseil grand conseil?

And all of this was 365 years ago.

MERCHANTS STONED IN COUNTY WHICH BANISHED NEGROES

Missiles Directed at Chauffeurs for State Touring Party When It Reached Cumming, Ga.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—Forsythe County, Ga., expelled all negroes some years ago and the rising generation retains the prejudice aroused against the race by the murder of a young girl by one of its members. This was emphasized in a striking manner a few days ago.

Georgia business men have taken up the idea of becoming acquainted with their own State. To this end they have organized automobile touring parties on a large scale, the second in a series having terminated here last week. The tour embraced Forsythe County. The tourists had forgotten about the territory being closed to negroes, and some of the chauffeurs were of that race. At every village, town and city along the route the travelers had been given cordial receptions and the same was expected at Cumming, the main community in Forsythe.

Instead, a shower of stones and stones fell upon them. The missiles were intended for the negroes, but some of them were dangerously close to the tourists, among whom there were women. The effect was to hasten the travelers on their way without their halting to inquire closely into the occasion for the inhospitable reception.

RATTLESNAKE FOR A CUSHION

SAN ANGELO, TEX., Oct. 23.—Flora Hanson, a 15-year-old cotton picker on the Staley Turner ranch, near here, sat on a rattlesnake for 15 minutes thinking the snake was a cotton sack.

The snake permitted her to sit in peace, and it was not until the girl reached for her cotton sack to begin her day's labor that she learned of her mistake. The snake was more than four feet in length. That the reptile was cold in the early morning is the only reason that can be ascribed for its not killing the girl.

ARM GONE, MATTY ENTERTAINS OFFER TO COACH HARVARD

STREET. ST. LOUIS

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell

Mr. Jarr Is Proven a Debtor to Gus by an Ingenious Card
File Account.

IN the cool of the evening Mr. Jarr strayed into Gus' popular cafe on the corner. Several little groups were disposed up and down the bar, being ministered to by Elmer, the bartender, while Gus, the sometimes genial proprietor, was frowning over his accounts in gloomy isolation at the upper end of the bar, where the cigar boxes were kept.

Gus' system of accounts was simple yet complicated. He evidently kept all items on the backs of business cards such as agents for beer pumps, brass polish, cigar and liquor houses tender a case proprietor when negotiating for a business opening. Gus accepted all such cards if they were large and printed only on one side. An agent for anything who had a small business card received scant courtesy from Gus. True, he never bought anything from agents who presented the large cards, but he always treated them urbanely and permitted them to treat him from his own stock. Before they departed Gus would ask for as many of their cards as they could spare and they went away hopefully noting in their memorandum books that Gus was "a good prospect."

Besides the large business cards there was the small old scratched slate on which Gus had opened his original credit accounts with his best customers when he had first taken "the stand"—as a liquor store location is technically designated.

With Gus any mental effort was a severe physical strain. He would bear down hard with his moistened bit of pencil and, placing his head close to his figuring, his eyes would roll, the sweat would pour from his forehead and he would follow the heavy motions of his hand with a heavy movement of his head, his tongue sticking from the corner of his mouth, until he looked like a human gargoyle.

"My word!" Gus finally remarked as he looked up from his auditing and saw the gaze of Mr. Jarr was upon him. "My word! Only that I got such an education as I got I could never guess how much it is I got to worry about what is owed me by my customers!"

"Have you the same educational aid to enlighten you as to how much you owe?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"What do I care what I owe?" retorted Gus. "When I owe too much, my brewery sends the collector to haul me, or the wholesale liquor and cigar people write me letters what make me laugh, because I know I owe them so much that business must be good mit me. But when I find that I am owed a lot of money, then it is time that I should make the loafers pay me!"

"You keep the accounts on the backs of business cards?" said Mr. Jarr.

"Sure," said Gus, "it's a good way if Slavinsky owes me for cigars I charge it up on the back of a card from a cigar drummer. Then I know it is for cigars. If it's for hard stuff, I charge it on a wholesale liquor drummer's card. If it's for soft stuff, I put it on the card of a bottling works what bottles soft stuff. So if there is any argument about what the 30 cents is for and what the 20 cents is for, I can say to Slavinsky or to Bepier, the butcher, or to you, or whoever it is, 'The 40 cents is for cigars you lost shaking dice with a prohibitioner you was in here with the other night. The 20 cents is where you got a glass of sarsaparilla for your little boy so he won't tell on you it ain't the truth that you sent him home to say you was gone to lodge meeting when you was asked to play penicillie in the back room; the 15 cents is for what you and Slavinsky and Bepier took before you started the auction penicillie—but I charged it all on the back of the soft stuff drummer's card, so if you started to kick that you didn't owe me no 30 cents, I could prove it by the glass of sarsaparilla for your little boy.'"

This was a citation in proof. Mr. Jarr remembered the incident and paid the 20 cents out of hand. But to maintain his position as an innocent bystander he had to make some remark, so he said: "I think your card index system is too complicated. Why don't you simply write down sarsaparilla if it is sarsaparilla, and not trust to memory as to exactly what it is, simply because the whole amount is charged on a soft stuff drummer's card?"

Gus regarded him oddly. "I got an education, and it's a good one," he said. "But if I could spell sarsaparilla I would try to spell straphell, and if I could spell that I would write to them foreign agents and go in the war ammunition business what everybody else is in these days."

"Do you mean straphell?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Sure," said Gus. "Everybody is selling it. I think I will stock up on it. Do you know where I can get any?"
